“What’s this email all about?”

Now that you’ve signed up to receive our emails, you’ll be hearing from us twice a week! Once with TLYNT WKLY, the official TLYNT newsletter, and again through a personal message from our co-founder and CEO, Lisa Maria Cabrera.

In TLYNT WKLY you’ll be introduced to some of TLYNT’s talent: the actors and models who make up our community. You’ll also receive information on open castings and tips about how to land your dream job.

Real people talent

In her weekly message, Lisa Maria will offer her insights into the casting industry—including the scoop on all the things most casting agents don’t want you to know!

Keep your eyes on your inbox—we’ll be back soon to tell you a little more about TLYNT.

We're on a Mission.

“So, what is TLYNT?”

Let us tell you a little bit about ourselves!

TYLNT is a platform that connects aspiring, authentic talent with advertisers and casting agencies who are looking to work with them.

Our mission? Representation.

Real people talent

Media today is missing real people. People of different ethnicities, religions, orientations, abilities, and perspectives. Let's look at some numbers...

90% of consumers say authenticity is important when deciding which brands to support.

83% of marketers agree that authenticity is very important to their brands.

And yet, only one-third of Black Americans feel properly represented by the media. And the number is lower for other minority Americans.

Everyone has a story to tell. TLYNT makes it possible.
